

Senior Consultant

Chris Ho

Vancouver, British Columbia

Chris is passionate about helping people become leaders in their own lives both professionally and personally. As a previous 4 time leader himself, he has seen firsthand the challenges and opportunities leaders face in leading, mentoring and coaching a team to deliver results, while balancing the needs of an inclusive, empathetic, heart-centered culture. His passion for helping those live an intentional, passion full life has brought him to the world of coaching and consulting at FranklinCovey. Chris brings over 18 years of sales and leadership experience working in industries such as finance, media, and technology.

In addition to becoming one of the sought after consultants at FranklinCovey, Chris is also the SME for our Professional Coaching practice helping clients and organizations map out coaching engagements that align with their learning needs. He is a key member of the Executive Coaching team helping executives and senior leaders gain clarity and self-awareness with their own leadership tendencies while guiding them towards tangible business and leadership development outcomes.

Chris was also a Client Partner with FranklinCovey for many years, bringing extensive experience in understanding the needs and challenges of various clients across large enterprises, Crown, public and mid-small and not for profit organizations. He uses this knowledge and experience as part of his facilitation and conversations with clients in uncovering hidden opportunities and potential.
