

Executive Coach

Patrick Donadio, MBA, MCC, CSP

Columbus, Ohio

Patrick Donadio has trained and coached two generations of leaders and their organizations to use his proven six-step IMPACT® process to communicate clearly, lead effectively, present powerfully, listen intently, and shift mindsets to achieve greater results. He is one of a few select individuals in the world to earn the highest designations in both the speaking and coaching professions: Certified Speaking Professional (CSP) and Master Certified Coach (MCC).

Patrick has extensive experience working with C-suite executives, senior leaders, and their teams at Fortune 500 companies and associations in a variety of industries. Patrick's years of experience as a national and international keynote speaker and trainer enable him to create customized, results-driven programs that help his clients make a greater IMPACT and achieve meaningful results.

He has taught executive education at the Weatherhead School, the John Glenn School of Public Affairs, Notre Dame University, and the University of Dayton. Patrick's expertise has been featured in various print, podcast, and broadcast media venues across the country, including NBC TV, TIME, Psychology Today, Money, Smart Business, The Huffington Post, Monster.com, and numerous industry-specific publications.

Highlights

Author of "Communicating with IMPACT®," a book about Leadership Communication

Master Certified Coach (MCC) with the International Coaching Federation since 2000

Served on the board of the National Speakers Association and as president of the Ohio Chapter

Trained/coached leaders at a $13 billion Fortune 500 company, from the CEO to SVPs and their teams

Coached a VP of Sales and their team at a $290 billion Fortune 100 company

Education & Certifications

- B.S.C. in Radio/TV from The Ohio University
- M.B.A. from The Ohio University
- Certified Speaking Professional (CSP) from the National Speakers Association
- Able Toastmaster (ATM) from Toastmasters International
- Certified in DISC Behavior Assessments

What clients say about Patrick

"Patrick has provided communication and presentation skills coaching/training for me and many of my colleagues and subordinates for several years. He develops a rapport quickly, earns respect and trust, and has guided exceptional performance improvements. He is quite adept at tailoring his training to address the critical development needs of the individual." Vice President, Corporate Communications