Rogelio Marroquin

Houston, Texas

Rogelio has over 30 years of combined experience as a coach, consultant, trainer, and leader across the corporate spectrum. As an executive coach, Rogelio has partnered with many leaders of diverse backgrounds working in Fortune 500 companies to help improve their overall self-awareness and leadership effectiveness. He is a certified in individual and team coaching and is fluent in both English and Spanish. He coaches across all levels from director to C-Suite, and various functional areas across a wide range of industries.

Rogelio is an accomplished executive leader who has transitioned into a coaching role after accumulating more than three decades of invaluable corporate experience. His impressive career in leadership spans a multitude of pivotal roles, including Vice President/General Manager of Sales, Marketing, and Operations, Director of Customer Operations, and numerous other influential positions. Demonstrating his exceptional expertise, he has been entrusted with full profit and loss (P&L) responsibility. Throughout his career, he has consistently guided both large and small teams towards the successful attainment of corporate goals, objectives, and targets.

Throughout his career, Rogelio experienced the coaching process himself – and has since taken what he has learned to pay it forward. In working with participants, one-on-one or in groups, Rogelio helps leaders increase their self-awareness by assisting in the discovery of new insights about strengths and opportunities, assisting them in creating development plans, and coaches them to discover and improve their leadership skills and more importantly, their overall effectiveness.
